I understand from the Chairman that the Gurugram Branch of NIRC which caters to a large base of CA Members, have kept themselves professionally active and also assisted in promoting various Government initiatives. The year 20-21 which saw the COVID pandemic, was a challenging one for each one of us personally as well as for organizations to adapt themselves to face this ongoing challenge. Against this background, the Gurugram Branch of NIRC took the initiative to keep its Members and young students pursuing CA course gainfully occupied and updated by organizing events and Webinars on various technical/professional and motivational subjects. The Chairman and its Committee Members deserve appreciation for their endeavours especially during such a challenging year. Congratulations to the Gurugram Branch of NIRC of ICAI, their Chairman and Committee Members for bringing out this publication of Annual Souvenir.

With Best Wishes

Dear CA Dheeraj Ji,

I am glad to know that Gurugram Branch of NIRC of ICAI is going to come out with first ever Souvenir of annual activities. My congratulations and best wishes for this apt initiative to the entire team of the office bearers led by you. I have come to know that the Branch organised quite a good number of quality events this year. I am sure this must have benefitted the young accounting professionals in a big way.

One of the events organised by the Branch in which I participated focused on professional ethics. Indian CAs are known for their professional efficiency and rigor in qualification. Regarding professional ethics also, because of the concerted efforts of the ICAI, they have their own reputation. I hope and pray that may the Indian CA attain highest rank in professional ethical scores around the globe.

Best wishes.

Chartered Accountancy is an invaluable and indispensable profession for modern businesses. Advances in our profession directly reflect the advancement of the nation's business and economy. The profession has attained a coveted position because of the constant pursuit for perfection, integrity, skills and knowledge.

On this note, it is heartening to note that the Gurugram Branch of Northern India Regional Council (NIRC) of ICAI has been proactive towards advancement of the profession as can be seen by the initiatives taken by the branch even during the unprecedented times of the COVID-19 pandemic.

During the year, the branch organised a number of programmes and activities wherein I had the occasion to join in CA Students Conference and the Bhoomi Pujan ceremony of ICAI Bhawan, Manesar. The branch also conducted various programmes and webinars on digital evolution and on promoting government initiatives for the benefit of members and students community.

My heartiest congratulations to all the Managing Committee members of the Gurugram Branch for their continued efforts in taking the profession forward and best wishes for their future endeavors. I hope that the good work done would be continued in the years to come.

Respected Professional Colleagues and Students

Warm greetings.

I pray for your good health and safety. I am short of words to express my gratitude for offering me this opportunity to serve as Chairman of the largest branch of NIRC a year ago at such an early age of 29 years. At this point of time to write my last message as Chairman I am happy and immensely satisfied after successful fulfilment of my duties & responsibilities. At the same time I am feeling nostalgic as during the last one year a sense of attachment to this august office has been developed in my heart.

Legacy

I consider it my privilege to acknowledge that our branch has seen a tremendous growth since its inception. I feel proud to accept that, continuing with the trend, we have reached many new heights in this year too. It wouldn't be possible without guidance and active support of our worthy President CA. Nihar N Jambusaria, Immediate Past President CA. Atul Kumar Gupta, past-Chairmen and senior fellows in the profession. I thank each of them for reposing trust in my leadership and for offering their support. I feel proud to share that as setting a benchmark of governance, your branch has not applied for best branch awards of ICAI announced two weeks ago as the then President comes from Gurugram only and the Award Ceremony was also scheduled in Gurugram itself.

Image Building

I feel privileged to highlight that Gurugram Branch held very productive interactions with the distinguished personalities including Union Minister, MPs, MLAs, senior officials of various Ministries, C&AG of India, local administration and with members in public services and industry. During the year eminent speakers from 20 States & UTs of the country and 22 times distinguished speakers from 10 odd countries addressed in our events. Hon'ble President and Vice President of ICAI graced our events for 5 times and 3 times respectively. Galaxy of CCM and RCM cumulatively attended our events for more than 75 times. A great sense of support had received from fellow leaders of other ICAI branches and overseas chapters too. We have also tried to bring back all past committee members at one platform on the occasion of Branch Foundation Day.

Members

Your branch has not missed any step to ensure the learning of members and students in this pandemic time. We managed to host programs on regular basis covering varied subjects with best possible faculties. Members from almost entire nation had participated in these events. Your branch has hosted unique and innovative events and cumulatively generated 47,000+ structured CPE hours. We hosted SMP week, seminars for women CA, Mentorship sessions, talk with Govt. officials, technology specific meetings etc. I convey heartiest thanks to Ms. Poonam Sidhu, IRS (CCIT) who supported to launch much needed Income Tax Grievance Redressal Helpdesk for CA. Your branch released monthly e-newsletter on 1st day of every month. We have hosted CFO Talk Series in which industry leaders addressed on various industry specific issues. Also we have hosted an interactive meet with CEO and CFO in which 100+ top leaders from industry joined physical meeting and 3000+ members attended on virtual platform. Besides knowledge filled events we have organised badminton tournaments, virtual Kavi Sammelan, motivational sessions, Yoga week etc.

Students

Students are the future of our profession. During the year, your branch hosted CA Students Conference, revision classes, badminton tournament, special sessions viz. entry to Civil services, Rankers Success Stories, Success through Synergy etc. for CA students. We conducted 49 (OP/MCS & ITT/Adv. ITT) batches to facilitate 2300+ students during the year. I am glad to mention that students from more than 20 States & UTs participated in the events hosted by the branch.

Own Building of Branch

It was disheartening that even after being the largest branch of NIRC, having own building of Gurugram Branch was a long standing dream for members and students. I feel blessed to communicate that the construction of building of Gurugram Branch has commenced during the year. I am confident that the dream building of ICAI Gurugram will be a reality soon. I sincerely acknowledge the countless efforts made by my preceding Chairmen, ICAI top leadership and all the committee colleagues.

Partner in Nation Building

I have firm belief in overall development not only in our profession but in our society too. As partner in nation building, your branch had taken numerous initiatives for making social welfare viz. The Chartered Accountants Park with 500+ plantation in one day, Swachhta Drive, Fund raising campaign for PM-CARES fund, distribution of study kits to needy students etc. Further I am happy to share that during the entire year single use plastic was prohibited in the branch premises itself.

Challenges

Besides the achievements mentioned above, certain challenges came in the way both at professional and personal front. I lost my beloved aunty in the month of April. In the last week of October I found Covid positive. After hospitalisation for initial days I was on bed rest at home for three weeks. Later on my son suffered lever infection and undergone treatment for a month. I have no regret for any of these situations as these challenges empowered me to come out with more dedication.

Gratitude

I thank my parents, family members, past Chairmen, senior professionals for their fond blessings and guidance. My quest for professional excellence would not have been possible without the invaluable support of my preceding Chairman CA. Arun Aggarwal and my committee colleagues, CA. Nitin Kataria, CA. Mohit Singhal, CA. Lalit Aggarwal, CA. Nishant Kumar and CA. Sanjeev Aggarwal, Ex-officio members CA. Avinash Gupta, CA. Vijay Kumar Gupta and CA. Nitin Kanwar. I express my sincere gratitude to all the members and students for their help and encouragement. I must acknowledge the support of branch employees. They have put in their best towards the fulfilment of the vision and agenda of the branch.

Last but not least I thanks my wife Aakanksha Dixit and my son Devasheesh, both sacrificed their irreplaceable moments just to allow me to fulfil my duties towards the profession more diligently.

My tenure as Chairman of this esteemed branch will be over today and our current Vice Chairman CA. Nitin Kataria is supposed to take over the charge. I have trust in his leadership and professional acumen and believe strongly that the branch will prosper and advance beyond all limits. I am sure branch will continue to attain new heights of success; it is bound to grow under the new vision.

Once again I express heartfelt gratitude for the love, support and guidance you offered to me in my journey.

'Be Genuine and Win Hearts'

CA. Dheeraj Sharma

25th February 2021

Dear Professional Colleagues,

I take this privilege to thank the members of Gurugram Branch of NIRC of ICAI for giving me an opportunity to serve as Vice Chairman of this esteemed branch for the year 2020-21.

Really, it was a wonderful year full of learnings & experiences. Despite of global outbreak of Corona virus, we were fortunate enough to witness the extraordinary efforts made by Gurugram branch under the exemplary leadership of our Chairman CA Dheeraj Sharma Ji. During the year 2020-21, we tried to add another layer in the professional frontier sprinkled by establishment of THE CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS PARK at Manesar. During the year, Gurugram branch hosted a number of seminars, Panel Discussions, Workshops, conferences, Professional courses & the list goes on, in the form of webinars to serve the members and students at large.

The role of Chartered Accountants in nation building is very crucial. Profession today is ready for the emerging paradigms in finance and economy. Considering this, a number of Government officials, MPs, MLAs, civil servants, bureaucrats had addressed the CA fraternity. This souvenir will give you the glimpses of our achievements during the year under the able leadership of our Chairman CA Dheeraj Sharma Ji and the entire team members.

Thanks to all the managing committee members of the branch who bestowed support & teamwork during the entire year. I will always be available to serve the profession in whatever capacity I can in the years to come.

I end with one famous quote that "Knowledge is not Power. Sharing of Knowledge is Power." "Keep sharing keep growing".

CA. Nitin Kataria

Vice Chairman

Dear Professional Colleagues,

Successful teamwork is built on the foundation of trust. Each member of the team must establish trust, cultivate trust through their actions and work towards maintaining it. Each member also needs to trust their team members to make a commitment to the team and work diligently towards achieving the goals set out.

Passion is the powerful feeling of enthusiasm we all have inside of us. When we are enthusiastic and proud of the work we do, the better equipped we'll be to overcome the obstacles that will surely arise in our professional life. Also, the more enthusiasm we have, the more inclined we are to work harder and improving ourselves. Ensuring we are passionate about our work will provide us with both, a meaningful career as well as excellent financial opportunities. It is passion which differentiates between the ordinary and the extra ordinary. One of the most successful companies in the world today is Apple whose ex-CEO, the late Steve Jobs, said, "The only way to do great work is to love what you do" and claimed that the passion he had for his work made all the difference.

As secretary of this esteemed branch, I assured every member and student that they were provided with the best platform for professional and academic development. Our Institute always been a partner in nation building and I believe that Gurugram branch remained successful in fulfilling and exhibiting its Excellency to prove so.

At branch level, we tried our best to organize seminars in form of webinars to the extent possible on numerous different topics for members. We received great response from the members for the same.

With this, I thank everyone once again for their continuous support and guidance for entrusting me the role of branch secretary for year 2020-21. There was ample of opportunities to serve the fraternity under the leadership of Past chairman CA Arun Agrawal Ji and current chairman CA Dheeraj Sharma ji. I would continue to offer my services for the benefit of the profession in whatever role I get for upcoming year. All feedbacks, suggestions and grievances are always welcome.

The Civil Services. When we think of the civil services, we instinctively think of the IAS or the IPS. However, for the Chartered Accountants, especially for those dealing in taxation, the interaction is the maximum with the officers of the Indian Revenue Service, be it in the Income Tax Department or in the Indirect Taxes. I was one such young CA who, right from his articleship, would visit the income tax offices and interact with a few IRS officers. The interactions motivated me to consider the civil services, and especially the IRS, as a career choice after clearing the CA exams. In this article, I make an attempt to share my story in brief and share a few advices for young CAs and CA students who aspire to join the civil services.

After clearing the CA Final exams and completing my articleship in the Corporate Tax Team in one of the Big Four firms, I did not sit for any campus placements and focused full time on preparing for the Civil Services Exams ("CSE"). I had planned that if I don't clear the exam in two attempts, I will get a job as a CA, so that I don't end up spending the crucial initial years of my career preparing for competitive exams and lose out on the updated professional knowledge expected from a CA.

By God's grace, I cleared the Civil Services Exams in my second attempt securing All India Rank 73 and joined the Indian Revenue Service (Income Tax). While a lot of people have been unable to comprehend my decision to join the IRS over any other service, I believe that being a CA, with the experience and interest in taxation, I have joined a department which gives me the most opportunities to learn and pursue my interest in taxation.

Why civil services? This is a question that most people either don't find an answer to or find all the wrong answers. Civil Services have proved to be an enigma which many people aspire to join without fully appreciating the pros and cons that come with the job.

Firstly, it is just a job. Many young aspirants pursue the civil services thinking that clearing the exam would solve all the problems in their lives. Such a thinking is immature to say the least. One needs to aspire for it because it is a great job. The civil services give you opportunities like no other job can. It gives you the pleasure like no other job can. Having worked on both sides of the table in the Income Tax Department, I can share with my limited experience itself that the exposure and the learning opportunities are much greater while working as a tax officer than while working as a tax consultant. The variety of cases and the industries you deal with as a tax administrator gives you a much wider exposure than you can imagine. But at the end of the day, it is just a job. So even if you try & don't clear the exam, it is not the end of the world. You'll still gain from merely attempting for the civil service exam because the preparation itself teaches you a lot about this country & about yourself.

Secondly, one needs to be very clear about their motivations to appear for the CSE. If one wishes to appear for the exam only because their parents want them to, then probably that person won't go very far. If one wishes to appear for the exam because they are fascinated by the perks or the salutations, then again, they'll probably not go very far. A person may clear the exam with these motivations, but in the long term, I don't think they'll find the satisfaction in their life that one should aspire for. I believe that one should see the civil services as a means to be an end and not an end in itself. One should appear for the exams if one believes that the civil services will enable them to achieve something more in life like contributing to society, personal intellectual growth etc.

Thirdly, I believe that the CSE should not be considered to be an extremely tough exam that requires unthinkable hardwork. Yes, it involves a lot of luck factor, especially at the prelims stage but it is an exam which can be cleared by CAs with adequate dedication. Every CA is aware that a minimum effort and preparation of at least 3-4 months is required to clear the CA Final exams. Any CA who clears both groups of CA final would have put in that minimum effort, if not more. For CSE, a person just needs to put in a similar effort with the only difference being that the effort has to be put in for a longer period of 9-10 months at least. Anyone who is willing to put in that level of minimum consistent hardwork can clear the CSE with a bit of luck on his / her side.

I believe that there is a great opportunity for CAs to enter into public service. As the Hon'ble Minister of Railways; Commerce & Industry, Sh. Piyush Goyal ji said in the recently held Residential Meet of Chartered Accountant Members in Public Service organized by ICAI, that the impact one can have on society through public service, on the destiny of more than a billion people, the work one can achieve as a Chartered Accountant through public service, can lead to large dimensional changes in the future of our nation.

Learning from the Past, Living in the Present and Building for the Future

Every great achievement evolves from your mind & heart, always carry a deeper meaning and confer a greater impact on your identity. We have to dare to dream, to believe that it is possible. Everybody has different perspective about life. It's upon us that what we see is beauty of the garden or dry leaf and waste scattered along the way. The outer world is merely a reflection of our inner world. How we feel is the way how we see the world. We see life not as what exactly it is but as we wish to see it.

Often, when we have some goals, we want to start it with a blast. We want to become an overnight star. We want to achieve best as soon as possible. But things take time. It gets better with the time, but the key is to start as soon as possible. What happens is that we have an idea, which we think can change our or someone's life instantly but we don't work on it until we have favourable situations. We wait for more time and more resources. And, one day we feel that suitable time has already gone. Then we realise that how much time we waste before making the first move towards our goal. When we are about to start and then we realize that we can do it better we stop it in between.

So decide something and work on it enthusiastically. Whenever encounter challenges and passion starts diminishing we need to say ourselves that winners are ordinary people with extraordinary determination. Always remember that failure is result of lack of determination so never loose determination. Timely start and determination throughout the journey is the key to reach at destination. Always keep teaching to your mind and heart that you are created for a bigger purpose. You are created to leave legacy for another generations who will come after you. It's about learning from the past, living in the present, and building for the future.

If you think you can't do it, you can't. If you think you can do it, you will surely do it.

CA Abhishek Jain
Eminent Speaker, New Delhi

If you have thought of doing something in life, then it is important to first understand that the journey from thinking to actualities passes through courage.

Swami Vivekananda once quoted, "Arise, awake and don't stop till you achieve your goal." Think that people who give up their goals simply because "it will take a lot", there can be no greater failure. Because success and failure depends more on efforts than the results.

You will be surprised to know that only five percent people are able to achieve their dreams or goals. The remaining ninety five percent of the people live their entire life with their idea or dream in mind and die only with their mind. If someone is most responsible for this, then that person is himself. Who never gets started due to fear of people or society or any other? This is the bitter truth of life that if you want to do something new, then you have to start alone, walk alone. Maybe one or two people who are your well-wishers or close to you, can support you. You don't have to expect more than just this.

Success is just the matter of your viewpoint. Those who learn something from their mistakes and never give up, always lives up their goal. You may not get success immediately. There will always be some problems but you do not need to run away from it rather you should face it keeping in mind that you are the best.

Dr. A.P.J Abdul Kalam and Prof. Y.S Rajan (ISRO Scientist) in their book "India 2020: A vision for the new Millennium" conveys ideas for India's future: "A developed India, by 2020 or even earlier is not a dream. It need not even be a mere aspiration in the minds of many Indians. It is a mission we can all take up- and accomplish."

Unemployment rates were at an all-time high, regular commodity prices did not reduce and India was, and still is in a big import-export trade deficit, while our indigenous workforce remains jobless, and we export more natural resources and lesser products. The Prime Minister has talked about an "Aatmanirbhar" or self-reliant vision of India that he has for the future of our country, and while the emotion and meaning behind this vision is strong, there are a lot of changes we need to bring in to actually enable us to become "Aatmanirbhar".

The biggest driving force behind this is the evolution of more start-ups and entrepreneurs.

Entrepreneurship is one of the resources economists categorize as integral to production, the other three being land/natural resources, labor and capital.

इक्षुदण्डास्तिलाः क्षुद्राः कान्ता हेम च मेदिनी।

चन्दनं दधि ताम्बूलं मर्दनं गुणवर्धनम्।

Chanakya says the more one crushes sugarcane, more juice will come out, similarly the more crushed are the oil seeds the more oil they'll give, more the gold is beaten the better shining & value it has, the more the earth is ploughed more fertile it would be, more rubbing of sandalwood, more fragrance it would spread, more the curd is churned results into more butter, more one chews the 'paan' more tasty & enjoyable it will become.

Nurturing entrepreneurship can be highly beneficial for the individual as well as society. It is an important facet of unleashing individual creativity and energy for the purpose of greater common good. The entrepreneur is commonly seen as an innovator, a source of new ideas, goods, services, and business/or procedures.

An entrepreneur's journey is full of thorns, not a flower bed of Roses. Always remember the journey from the roots of the rose plant to the rose flower is full of thorns.

One of the major hindrances faced by the Indian entrepreneur is that of capital. While some entrepreneurs are lone players struggling to get small businesses off the ground on a shoestring, others take on partners armed with greater access to capital and other resources.

Embarking on the entrepreneurial career path to "being your own boss" is exciting. Sure, some people might have a more natural entrepreneurial knack, but the abilities and characteristics of an entrepreneur are developed and groomed through an ongoing development process. It's about seeing the big picture, being agile and always seeking out new opportunities.

"A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step."

This journey can be successfully accomplished only with desire, determination and dedication of all the entrepreneurs. Entrepreneurship is a journey not a destination.

Leadership is a nothing but a challenge. It could help achieve your goals or else it could take you miles away from your goals. It is always said 'a leader has to be born'. However, it is my sincere belief that a leader can be made. Moreover, a born leader can't be a great leader unless and until he is moulded, through experience, whether of self or others. As is always said, he is a good one if he learns from his mistake, but he is the best if he learns from others mistakes. The same is true with leader. He has to be vigilant, aware and inquisitive about what is happening in the world around him.

Rest but all, it is imperative for a leader to be disciplined yet flexible, professional yet friendly and humane yet professional. Thus, being disciplined in your actions, being professional in your approach and being humane in your attitude are the three prime aspects of leadership.

Be Disciplined: I have experienced many times that when a leader of a group is casual in his approach, his team starts deflecting from goals, they start mocking that leader and at the end the goal always remains a goal as it is never achieved. So be disciplined yourself and it won't take much time to align your team to the level of sincerity you desire from them.

Be Professional: It is not advisable for a leader to be over committed or under committed. Use your all time and mark your commitments to the extent that will keep you productive always in your work while ensuring that you do not get unnecessary free time.

Be Humane: Last but not the least, never forget that you are human and you have to be humane. Always consider your team as your asset & not your sub-ordinates. No one likes being treated as inferior by a person unless. People work for a person only when they have a sense of belongingness with such person. Once a person gets connected with his team in such a subtle manner, his team will be his best supporters, advisors, critics but shall never betray him.

Inspire others: Leadership is all about knowing which direction to go and uniting the efforts of the team in such direction. However, to make a group of people travel in desired direction is a tough task. Everyone has got their priorities, interests and moreover ego; and that is where the challenge of a leader begins. Being a leader one has to make directive efforts in such a way that it would imbibe in the minds of team members that they are not working for any one person or group of persons but are working for fulfilling their own interests. This is quite challenging as one, being a leader has to understand what everyone desires being in organisation/ social group etc. and also pay a close attention to whether their desires subject to those not being detrimental to the ultimate cause of the organisation/ social group are fulfilled and eventually goals of organisation being fulfilled.

Be approachable: I would always say that leader would be approachable but not freely available. Leader must not allow himself to be taken for granted or else it would help him for nothing but to lose control over his team. He must be that figure which could be approached by his team for any problem that they may face even in the organisation or in their personal life. This only enables his to gel with the team and be connected centrally to everyone.

However, there is thin line difference between being approachable and being available. Leader should never spoon-feed his team. He should never interfere in their daily work routine. He should never interfere in any task/ responsibility that he has given to his team.

I have seen a lot of leaders who keep their team members only as a robot to enact what he says. This does nothing but hinders the decision making capabilities of not only that team member but eventually of the team as a whole. It makes team less efficient and ultimately it is the leader who has to suffer from all its consequences.

Never be a one-man army: Unless it is not an emergency, allow your team to work on tasks even though you think that you are enough capable to handle that tasks. Let it take time, let it may cause errors, but never be a one man army. Do not show-off in front of your team.

Be humble and inspire them to bring in new ideas, listen to them, indicate them you are positive to what they are suggesting, and never ignore any suggestions. Even if you find any suggestion insignificant, discuss the same with team member who had given such input about why you thinks so. Understand his approach. One may think this is time consuming, but eventually it is nothing but gelling the whole team to the nucleus i.e. you, which shall eventually build better prospects of your organisation.

Be Selfless: Never be selfish for any good you do towards your team members. Never expect anything from your teammates for any out of the box help that you have rendered towards them. Believe me, unknowingly, they would start respecting you much more and never let you down.

Give Credit: Last but not the least, never ever forget to give credits of the organisations success to your team members. They are the one who have given such a beautiful shape to the organisations success. Further, to take reference of human psychology, even a small appreciation motivates one to work twice hard as he/ she had worked earlier to achieve a particular goal.

CA Gyan Prakash Sharma
Young Mentor, Gurugram

People become great by conduct, not by birth. Your Conduct should be elevated towards success.

Success, by definition, means achievement of objectives. Thus, a successful person is an individual who accomplishes his objectives more often than he fails to do so. Success is largely defined by measures such as wealth, position or status. In addition, success is measured by one's capabilities. When we see someone around in our life succeed or hear about such a successful person who has established new dimensions of success, after seeing such a person. But very soon we are made to feel by the people around us that we cannot do it or it is not our cup of tea, then this is the end of our short term motivation and we start to believe that we cannot do all this. We get molded in the same fashion as the normal everyday life and the dreams of moving ourselves are finished before the beginning of the same.

Goal

You must have a goal because, if you don't have a target, it is hard to tell when you will achieve it. Furthermore, if there is no goal, what would you focus on to assure a superior execution? However, just having a goal is not enough. Your goals must be smart. A smart goal is a goal that is achievable and which does not set you up for failure. An achievable goal is one that you are not sure you can achieve. This type of goal assures that you stretch your capabilities. An unachievable goal is one that you know you cannot achieve. Moreover, a smart goal is aligned with your ultimate goal. Otherwise, your accomplishments become trivial once you realize they have not made any contribution towards the ultimate goal, which consequently hurts your confidence and makes you depressed.

It is important that you stick with your goals and do not alter them after encountering the first obstacle. Yet, it is wise to be ready to change your goal once you realize a blunder or because of a change in environment. If the goal is changed repeatedly, you have to re-evaluate your ability of setting up smart goals. Furthermore if the ever changing goals have been set for others as well, you will soon lose respect and credibility.

Focus

In order to carry out your tasks efficiently you must be able to focus and concentrate on your task. Distraction will reduce your efficiency and will result in mistakes which may cause a total collapse of the mission. If possible, write your goal in large font and post it on the wall where you can be reminded of it frequently. Keep your eye on the target. If you are distracted, stop what you are doing and take care of the source of the distraction first. Very easy to say than to do, but, in many cases, it is often easier to do as well. The source of distraction might be as simple as tiredness, so take a break, rest, and get back to work with a rejuvenated energy.

Hard Work

We talked about doing something that one has talent for. Obviously, the less talent one has for the job they do, the harder one has to work to get the results they desire. Successful people often enjoy their job so much that it does not seem like work, never mind hard work. On the negative side, when these people retire, they quickly deteriorate because they lack the stimulus of their work. While they were so fully and constantly occupied with their work and career, they never developed any type of hobby to fall back to in retirement.

The important thing is to understand the difference between passing time Vis a vis time management and to know that being busy is not the same as working. It's the key to work on the important, not necessarily the urgent.

Attitude

The attitude of a successful person is the 'CAN DO' attitude. When a problematic project is given to a successful person, he takes up the task and finds ways to overcome the difficulties. In contrast, the unsuccessful person's response to a similar project is a series of excuses and discussions about the barriers which will stop him from a successful execution with the conclusion that he should not take up the task.

Of course the CAN DO attitude is the attitude of a confident person, and confidence is the result of many successful accomplishments. There seems to be a paradox here: one needs confidence to be successful, but one has to be successful first to gain confidence. For this reason, one needs to start with smaller tasks that have a higher chance of success to build up confidence. Then one can then take on more complicated projects. There are bad managers who hand over difficult tasks to inexperienced employees who are not prepared for the job. This may destroy the employees' confidence and kill their successful careers.

CA Naveen Garg
Past Chairman, Gurugram Branch

Confidence stands for "Believe in your-self". Having self-confidence in our life is as important as having a fragrance in a flower. Without self-confidence, our life becomes like a living corpse. No matter how talented a person is, he cannot do anything without confidence. Self-confidence is the foundation of success, due to lack of confidence a person doubts the work done by him.

Self-confidence is virtue of the person who is satisfied with himself and who possesses the wealth of determination, hard work and dedication, courage, commitment etc. The biggest enemy of self-confidence is the "fear" of failure in doing any task and to remove fear, then do the task in which you are afraid.

8 ways to improve Self Confidence:

1. Believe in yourself, make smart goals and commit to accomplish them.
2. Be humble and start the day with a positive attitude.
3. Don't be unhappy with the failure, learn from it. Understand that "better experience always comes from bad experience"
4. Be honest and speak truth.
5. Quit bad habits because the bad habits reduce our confidence.
6. Do the work that interests you and try to take your career in the same direction in which you are interested.
7. Live in present and do self-analysis.
8. Get involved with nature, do good work, help the needy.

CA Rakesh Agarwal
Past Chairman, Gurugram Branch

One of the key required to open the door to success is Responsibility. When you accept responsibility then you are opening the door to your success. The person who accepts responsibility never sits hand-in-hand, he never sits waiting that his life will get better without doing anything. The person who takes responsibility writes his own fortune, he completes his work with sincerity which gives him both satisfaction and happiness.

We all make a lot of mistakes in our life but the person who understands his responsibilities or takes responsibility never imposes his mistakes on others, does not blame someone else, but accepts his mistakes. With all the negative people in this world and those who get rid of their responsibilities, whenever something bad happens to them, they blame others.

Most people take credit immediately if something good happens, but very few people are the ones who accept their responsibility in case of mistake by themselves. A person who understands his responsibility never blames others. You must have seen many people when they start blaming all of them-their parents, friends, God, relatives, planetary constellations, gurus, destiny, if anything goes wrong with themselves. Such people are very dangerous because these people are about to seek shortcuts in every work.

If they want to be successful, they will look for a shortcut, they will be seen to have big dreams in their mind, but when they are asked to do something then they will not take any step for this or understand their responsibility. The person accepting responsibility does not just dream, lives those dreams, and unites them day & night to fulfill them. But those who do not understand their responsibility are just complaining and are seen crying in some corner or are seen passing time in the street.

We can become a good citizen of this country only when we are ready to bear our own burden. When we are assigned a task and we ask someone to do something to another that second to a third and then third to a fourth, made that work will just go round and round, it will never be completed. People will not be successful, who is seen putting their responsibility on the shoulders of others. If you wish to be great, then understand the value of your responsibility.

Be prepared to bear your own burden rather than blaming others. A good person never becomes good by his deeds or inefficiency, but by understanding his responsibility.

National Anthem

जन गण मन अधिनायक जय हे
भारत भाग्य विधाता।
पंजाब सिन्ध गुजरात मराठा
द्रविड उत्कल बंग।
विंध्य हिमाचल यमुना गंगा
उच्छल जलधि तरंग।
तव शुभ नामे जागे
तव शुभ आशीष मागे।
गाहे तव जयगाथा।
